Raising Funds for the RNLI ...

In Cornwall, there are two very well-known songs ...

- The Cornish Floral Dance

- Trelawny (Cornwall's 'National Anthem')

The original 'Floral Dance' is a very popular recording, made famous by the Australian Operatic Baritone, Peter Dawson, in 1913. Many years later, in 1978, the instrumental version of the tune secured the Number Two position in the UK charts with Terry

Wogan & the Brighthouse & Rastrick's 'Floral Dance'. It is a highly popular, and well loved tune ... having already secured more than £2,100 for the RNLI!

Our quality recording, released in 2014, is a truly Cornish version. It is recorded by the Helston Town Band (the originators of the 'Floral Dance') and a locally born internationally renowned tenor ... John Treleaven!

Also, we are told that John' son, Lawrence, is currently working on a project to make a film about his Dad:

John's story saw him go from a junior in the stores at Helston Garages to an international opera star.
